PERMITS FOR MONTH

BUILDING IN SEPTEMBER RUNS MUCH SAME AS TWO PREVIOUS YEARS

September, 1916, ran much the same as September, 1915, as far as the value of building is concerned. This year the month shows a total valuation of $21,895. Last year the value of the buildings erected in September was $25,515 and the year 1914, $23,390. The number of permits was thirty-one and of these nine were dwelling houses of the more substantial kind. Of these nine one was to be erected at a cost of $3000, one at a cost of $1000, and seven at $2000 or more. Nine new garages were erected.

Following are the permits:

Mrs. Nanno Woods, president of the Glendale Garden society, spent all of Monday in Los Angeles on business relating to different phases of the Garden society work.

AT GLENDALE HIGH

FIRST MEETING OF PARENT-TEACHERS — INTERCLASS TENNIS SEASON

Mrs. Noe, formerly an instructor in Mills college, was the principal speaker at the first meeting held this year by the Glendale High school Parent-Teacher association, which took place in the music room at 3:10 o'clock Monday afternoon. Mrs. Noe spoke of the necessity of team work between the school and the home, and defined at length the duties of the perfect mother.

She made a strong plea to the mothers to spend more time helping their boys and girls in their High school work, declaring that raising the children was more important than dusting. A few motherly lessons in concentration, she declared, would do much to improve the grades of the students. Mr. Howe thanked Mrs. Noe, in behalf of the association, for her excellent advice.

Many helpful topics were discussed in the course of the afternoon. Mr. Ferguson, by a diagram of the school routine, showed that home study is essential, as the student cannot maintain satisfactory scholarship without more study than is possible in school.

Systematic home study was discussed thoroughly by the mothers and teachers, and the home study hour, supervised by the mother, was given the stamp of approval by the meeting.

Mr. Moyse, in answer to a question regarding the marking system employed in Glendale High school, explained how the grades which appear on the cards are arrived at and what they mean.

The subject of college matriculation requirements was also discussed. Mr. Moyse said it was all-important that the student decide early in his High school career what course he would pursue upon graduating, in order to know what subjects to study in High school. Mr. Moyse declared that it was the aim of the school to help the student work toward a definite goal, and showed the necessity of such a procedure.

The meeting was presided over by Mr. Ferguson. Mr. Ferguson has resigned from the presidency of the P. T. A. but will remain in office until a successor is elected. He feels that he can be of more value to the school by assisting in other fields of work.

A greatly exaggerated report in the Los Angeles Examiner Monday states that several members of the Presbyterian football team were nearly killed in Saturday's game at San Fernando. Most of these fellows however, were to be seen getting about the school in a lively manner yesterday, giving but little evidence of being half dead.

In the first practice game of the year, the Senior basketball team defeated the Junior five by a small margin yesterday. Both teams showed excellent form considering the short time they have been training.

Unless weather conditions prevent tomorrow will usher in the interclass tennis season, when the Seniors and Juniors meet for their doubles matches. The Senior team consists of McGillis, Wilson, Fischel and Westwood, the order not yet determined. The Junior lineup is Greenwalt, Brown, Long and Powers.

The Sophomore try outs are practically over, with the team standing: Beldin, Puffer, Fanset, Gray. Louise Reid is substitute.

Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in the High school auditorium the students who won high scholarships for the year 1915-1916 will be presented with honor pins by Mr. Moyse. The presentation of these pins is one of the events of the year and friends of the school are invited to be present.

BUSY NIGHT IN GLENDALE

This evening will be a busy time in Glendale. At 6:30 the Federated Brotherhood of the churches of the San Fernando Valley will enjoy a banquet at the Masonic hall, Brand boulevard and Colorado St. The principal speakers at this banquet are Dr. Gandier and Miss Brehm.

At 7:30 the Independent Order of Good Templars will meet in district convention in Odd Fellows hall, corner of Isabel and Third. One of the speakers at this convention will be Mayor J. S. Thompson of Glendale.

The Chamber of Commerce Charter committee will meet in a business session at the city hall at 7:30 o'clock with Frederick Baker, chairman, presiding.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Meyer of 315 South Jackson street have moved to a ranch near Long Beach.

JAPANESE CABINET HANDS IN RESIGNATION

COUNT OKUMA AFTER LONG CONTROVERSY RESIGNS OFFICE ALONG WITH OTHERS

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

TOKIO, Japan, Oct. 3.—After a period of considerable controversy during which the Japanese opposition repeatedly attacked the ministry of Count Okuma, the premier and his cabinet tendered their resignation to the emperor today. Count Okuma is a liberal statesman of much experience. He is specially skilled in finance, and is interested in all progressive projects.

ITALIANS RESUME OFFENSIVE IN TRIESTE

GEN. CADORNA LAUNCHES POWERFUL ATTACK AGAINST IMPORTANT POSITION

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

ZURICH, Switzerland, Oct. 3.—After a lull in the fighting in the advance on Trieste the Italians are again advancing. Gen. Cadorna ordered a powerful bombardment of Monte Falcone, a position on a mountain that must be taken if the Italians are to capture Trieste. The Italian troops are beginning to go forward to the attack. German officers are reported to be organizing the Trieste defense.

SERVIANS CAPTURE IMPORTANT POSITIONS

BULGARIANS DRIVEN OUT OF STRONG FORTIFICATIONS EAST AND WEST OF FLORINA

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

PARIS, Oct. 3.—After a very strenuous battle in the course of which the fortunes of war varied, the Servians this morning carried in a grand rush the strong fortifications which the Bulgarians had constructed east and west of Florina. The village of Krusedograd is now in their hands and they have made further progress in the fighting for Kaimakcalan.

BRITISH AND GERMANS BATTLE FOR EAUCOURT

TEUTONS REGAIN SOME HOUSES FROM WHICH THEY WERE RECENTLY EXPELLED

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

LONDON, Oct. 3.—Heavy fighting went on all day yesterday and part of the night for the positions at Eaucourt which the Germans are very anxious to recover. Attack after attack in great force was made by the Germans against the defenders of the captured position. The Teutons managed to recapture some ruined houses and to hold on to them. The struggle is still going on. The Germans attach supreme importance to these positions and are most unwilling to give them up.

FRENCH REPULSE GERMANS FURIOUS ATTACK

TEUTONS MAKING DESPERATE EFFORTS TO HOLD BACK ADVANCE ON PERONNE

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

PARIS, Oct. 3.—There is evidence that the heavy struggle for the possession of Peronne and Mont. St. Quentin is beginning. The Germans are making furious attacks on the French lines that are gradually creeping nearer to those places. Peronne and St. Quentin are fortified in a most formidable manner and it is anticipated that the loss of life will be enormous on both sides. The Germans have not been successful in their attacks every assault having been repulsed.

AVIATOR SPENDS NIGHT IN OCEAN

LAURENCE SPERRY WHOSE AEROPLANE FELL WITH HIM INTO SEA, FOUND

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

BOSTON, Oct. 3.—Laurence Sperry, the well known aviator and inventor of aviation improvements, who was making an experimental flight here yesterday, and who was known to have met with some accident, was discovered this morning after an all-night search which was continued along the coast as far as Nantucket. The aviator was found clinging to his aeroplane which had not entirely sunk. He was badly exhausted.

MILK FAMINE IN NEW YORK CITY

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

NE WYORK, N. Y., Oct. 3.—A considerably diminished supply of milk came into this city this morning. Complaints are being heard on all sides concerning the shortage. Only 25 per cent of the usual supply was received. The cause of the shortage is a dispute between the producers and distributors as to prices.

CITY WATER SUPPLY

H. B. LYNCH SAYS GLENDALE GETS SERVICE CHEAPER THAN MOST CITIES

During the past two weeks the Public Service department has been receiving and unloading 20-inch cast iron pipe for the line to the pumping plant on San Fernando Road. The order totals about thirty carloads, of which twenty cars have been received and distributed along the line.

The pipe is being laid along Sycamore avenue from Central avenue to the San Fernando Road, and thence to the pumping plant. The portion east from Central avenue was laid last spring, and the distance now being laid will enable the department to deliver water from the pumping plant direct to the mains or to the reservoirs.

Scarcely any single factor has greater influence upon the healthy growth of a community than a reliable, abundant and cheap supply of pure water. While this is true of all sections, it has a special importance in Southern California, where so much dependence is placed upon irrigation, and where so much of the prosperity of the orchard districts is due to abundant water supply. In this respect Glendale is particularly fortunate, for no district in the southland is better protected by nature against the possibility of a shortage of water.

The Verdugo Canyon is, and always will be, the main source of water supply for the Glendale district. This stream is very uniform in its flow throughout the year and supplies at the present time the needs of 13,000 people in Glendale, Tropico, Casa Verdugo and North Glendale, in spite of the fact that more than one-half of its waters are used for irrigating orchards.

As in the case of all gravity streams, it is desirable to supplement the canon flow during a portion of the summer. For this purpose the pumping plant site on San Fernando Road is ideal. The site has been annexed to the city of Glendale so that the possibility of adverse legislation has been removed, and the available supply of water obtainable at a small lift is greater than can ever be required to supply completely the total area of Glendale. The city has one well supplying the steam pumping plant, and has drilled two more wells 16 inches in diameter and 500 feet deep.

For these wells two Layne & Bowles well pumps have been ordered, capable of lifting 1500 gallons of water per minute each to the surface. These pumps will be driven by two 35-horsepower electric motors. These pumps will deliver the water into a settling basin on the surface, and thence it will be forced by a Cameron high pressure turbine pump into the 20-inch main. This pump will be driven by a 350 horsepower motor and will force 3000 gallons of water each minute into the mains against a pressure of more than 100 pounds to the inch. This amount of water is equivalent to 333 miner's inches. The pipe line is large enough to carry much more water than this, so that the pumping plant equipment can be increased even beyond this whenever occasion requires.

The pumping plant will have a total first cost almost ridiculously low when compared with its capacity, and will deliver water into the reservoirs at a cost very much less than is usually paid for water.

In fact, next to the abundance of the water supply of Glendale, the most noticeable feature is its cheapness. Water is now delivered to the lawns and gardens of consumers, undes pressure, at a price that is just about equivalent to $1000 per inch. The usual value placed on water in Southern California is from $2000 to $3000 in the reservoir, with delivery charges in addition.

The ability to sell water at such a price is due almost wholly to the low investment per consumer. Although the city has an ample supply of water for all uses, the amount invested is $100 per consumer, an amount which is greatly exceeded in most of the cities of Southern California. As a result of low investment costs the department is able to make extensions and betterments out of income, as well as paying all operating and maintenance charges, and paying bonds and bond interest as they mature.

The pipe line and pumping plant are being paid for in this way out of the ordinary income of the Public Service department.

H. B. LYNCH,
Manager Public Service Department.

WEATHER FORECAST — Unsettled weather; probably showers tonight; warmer; westerly winds.

GLENDALE FOOTHILLS

ORGANIZED CHICKEN THIEVERY —NEW TRACTS OPENED— NEW GARAGES

A scourge of chicken thievery disturbed the normal serenity of Casa Verdugo a few nights ago, and the incidents of the affair have furnished food for discussion to the cracker-box sleuths ever since. They make the deductions that the art of poultry purloining is highly organized and is equipped with modern improvements including high powered automobiles and gas apparatus for stupefying the birds. First the district selected for the raid is scouted and the best stocked henneries marked, that are located along alleys or adjoining vacant lots. This accounts for the fact that only those yards located in the alley between Melrose and San Rafael avenues and on Central avenue with the vacant lots in the rear facing Brand Boulevard were raided.

The wire is cut for large openings, is turned back and a clear path to the waiting auto is prepared for a quick get-away in case of surprise. The dope is applied, and the inert victims dumped into sacks and loaded. The silent work is quickly finished, and in the morning the justly indignant owners realize the damage and loss.

The marauders usually select nights with scudding clouds and uncertain shadows such as have prevailed lately. From six or eight yards some 200 of the finest fowls, Rocks, Rhode Island Reds, Orpingtons, etc, fell into the clutches of the thieves, and up to date no traces of the raiders or their booty have been found.

In anticipation of an active winter demand for foothill acres and villa sites, two large new tracts are opening and bidding for business. Glendale Foothill Garden Acres occupy the twenty-seven acres in the southwest angle of Pacific avenue and West Sixth street Boulevard. The first bungalow here has just been finished and occupied and numerous other deals are pending.

North Glendale Vista tract, extending from Stocker street on the south up the side hill to Kenneth Road was formerly the Dutcher ranch of some twenty-two acres and which is now subdivided into about forty or fifty villa lots.

Work on the extension of Remington street through the tract north to a curve where it runs across the Fryer ten acre ranch, and joins Pacific avenue, is now in progress. Opening prices are high but it is claimed that such country comforts with city conveniences combined including water and electricity from the city of Glendale, with an unrivaled satin finish atmosphere thrown in, are worth the money.

The list of new garages since last reports includes one for J. H. Tipps, 1600 Stocker street. Mr. Campbell, Stocker street and Brand Boulevard and Dr. J. C. Eccles, 1124 Viola street. This latter now houses the doctor's new Oakland Six, acquired last week. It may be further mentioned that the locally famous "clock tower" garage on the Brockman estate, Kenneth Road at Valley View, having a four-faced clock with its sweet toned chime of bells floating over the valley on the hours and half hours, will receive a national celebrity through the illustrated mention of it in the Sunset magazine for September. It includes three stories, and some $2000 was expended in its construction.

The sky line in Brand Boulevard, 200 feet north of Doran, facing west, will soon be broken by a two story white cement plastered house of modern design, to be built for Mr. Ford, train dispatcher for the Western division of the Pacific Electric lines. H. Vauske, the North Maryland street builder has the contract and is at work on the cellar and foundations.

The framework on the two Pomeroy dwellings at North Campbell and Ross streets is now in place and loom up against the foothill background, giving some indication of the style of the houses.

Pursuant to a formal petition to the board of supervisors by the property owners on Melrose avenue between Dryden and Stocker streets, orders were issued to the county road department to macadam and oil the thoroughfare and the work which is now under way, will result in a better disposal of storm waters and the culmination of excessive dust in that section.

Mrs. M. Mayland, who has conducted the dry goods store, corner of

GLENDALE, CALIFORNIA, TUESDAY, OCTOBER 3, 1916

MARRIAGE DOWRY IN FRANCE

France is one of the most thrifty countries in the world. Henri Quatre, the most popular king France ever had, said that he would make the country so prosperous that every French peasant would have a chicken in the pot-au-feu. Henry really did institute a time of real prosperity and the lesson was never lost on the people. They understood how far thrift goes to produce that condition of comfort that lies at the root of a nation's greatness.

Through the strenuous times that preceded the French revolution the French people were bled at every pore but they rebelled and instituted the republic. The vicissitudes of the nation have taught its people sobriety and thrift. Today the French are the most economical nation on the face of the earth. They could sustain a family for a week, it is often said, with what some Americans throw into the garbage can.

Through all this schooling of the French people one custom has done as much almost as all else combined to teach the housewives of that land economy and household efficiency. That is the "dot" or to take the nearest American word the dowry which each girl must have before she can get a husband. The "dot" is demanded of every girl who expects to get married. The custom is one that is engrained in French life. A girl whose parents are not able to provide her with a "dot" has a small chance of getting married.

In families of small means the girls have to work hard and to save every cent from the earliest moments of childhood in order to acquire a "dot" by the time they come to marriageable age. It is true that this constant high pressure of economy deprives them of everything that could make life pleasant and agreeable during the period of saving; but when the great end is accomplished the girl goes to her husband with sufficient to start housekeeping and to keep out of debt. The discipline, too, is useful. The effect of the early training never is lost and the French housewife is a model of economy and practical housekeeping.

Unfortunately the "dot" system has acted as a check to marriage in France and that accounts to a certain extent for the demand that has grown up for more liberty in this respect. At present a French girl is limited in her choice of husbands to that class of life which her "dot" represents.

War, however, has changed the outlook in France. There is now a movement to put marriage on the American basis of love, a basis on which the husband assumes the full responsibility of providing for his wife and children. Were the hopes of these people based on the success of their propaganda they would probably not succeed. The war, however, with its wastage of human life has altered the outlook. The French people are now considering the advisability of abolishing the custom of demanding a "dot" from every girl who is to be married.

This would be a change of a most radical nature. Yet the French have shown themselves capable of the most stupendous sacrifices. Their love for France and their knowledge of the past history of their country can inspire them to any sacrifice in the future. Above all the French are great political economists. At the time of the Franco-Prussian war they rose as one man and paid off in short order the indemnity of a billion dollars demanded from them by Bismarck. That the country devasted by war with its homes in ruins, its industries paralyzed, could yet pay up this exorbitant tax in a few months astonished the world. It will be interesting to note what means France will take to recuperate after this war. If the abolition of the "dot" should be determined on there are many in France who would rejoice.

DOING ONE THING

It has been discovered that the person who does one thing well has better chances for making a financial success out of life than the person who can do many things. More and more modern life tends to turn out a vast number of people who do merely one thing but do it perfectly. There is an extreme to this of course that is reprehensible. A supposed mechanic having lost his job in a manufactory applied for employment in another shop. "What can you do?" he was asked. "Oh," he replied, "I turned out angle No. 9." That is reducing mind to mechanical expression of the lowest degree.

However, the fact remains that those who, having received a fitting education, are trained in doing some particular work in perfection are at an advantage over those who have a dozen irons in the fire. To do one thing well is an accomplishment that means much to its possessor. The possessor, of the true versatile genius, born, as the astrologers say, under the influence of Mercury, has the constant temptation to allow his energies and powers, which are generally remarkable to be dissipated in a dozen different channels.

If a man's or a woman's gift be business their training should be devoted to build a business knowledge on a foundation of thorough practical acquirements. Keeping in the pathway thus indicated, with the necessary technique, success in a business life should be assured, other things being equal. With one gift in a person's possession all one's time should be given to the development of that gift. With a dozen gifts one is very apt to divide one's strength, both mental and physical, among them and thus excel in none.

There have been geniuses of all ages who have done many things excellently. Michel Angelo was a genius in sculpture as well as in painting. It is rare that a man or woman is at once an author and an artist and yet the author of "Trilby" was a master cartoonist. Frederick the Great of Prussia, was a fine flautist as well as a master strategist and politician.

Such people, however, are exceptions. Indeed the demands of modern life are such that men must be masters of what they do if they are to succeed and to be masters in any particular line, one must devote one's whole attention to that particular occupation.

Even remote Alaska has been seriously affected by the war in Europe. Not long ago the United States government, through the Department of the Interior made plans for the installation of an aeroplane mail route into Alaska Now it has been found that the route cannot be established because the war in Europe is consuming all the aeroplanes that can be manufactured in this country. Second Assistant Postmaster General Praeger, who is in charge of the new air route between Seward and Iditarod, hopes, however, to have the air route going by the spring of 1917. The air line will take the place of the old dog trail and the purr of the 200-horsepower motor high up in the air will be as familiar to Alaskans ere long as used to be the wild shrieks with which the drivers urged on their malamutes. Before long, also, the difficulties of getting in and getting out of Alaska will be eliminated and the privacy of the remote Arctic will be violated. Formerly one could reckon on several months during which he could have absolute immunity from outside mail. Now the powerful aeroplane will follow him up like the ancient Nemesis.

FALSEHOOD

(By Samuel Parker)

Anent the "Ananias" Sunday school lesson Dr. J. G. Holland is quoted as saying "Some people are so addicted to falsehood that they cannot even state a truth," and this clearly indicates a condition without constant effort to avoid it. The devil who is the "father of lies," and was one himself "from the beginning," did not go out of business after his conquest of Eve, his victim, Cain, and his murder of Ananias. He is still roaming around, like a "roaring lion," seeking whom he may destroy, and falsehood is his "best hold" on the race today. It is not the bold, open utterance of a falsehood that is the worst or most dangerous form of lying, but it is subtle, insinuating implied method that reaches farthest and rankles longest in the breast of the injured. Many a damnable lie has been uttered by a nod of the head or a shrug of the shoulder, sweeping away the reputation of man or woman, and blasting lives forever, while not a word is spoken. When falsehood is declared in the open, there is some chance for defense, but the indirect, insinuating way gives no opportunity to defend.

While there is always occasion for the Christian to be on guard lest he offend in these things, there is universal reason for being "harmless as doves" just now. The "I told you so's" are having a good time, running to great extremes on rumor and suspicion, whereas sorrow and sympathy should be their only manifestation of feeling, even if humor had given place to fact. It is more in keeping with true Christianity to "think no evil," than to be ever ready on slightest occasion to say or insinuate, "Well, I always thought there was something wrong." The greatest casting out of devils ever witnessed in this world, would occur the moment lying was made to bite the dust, and truth in all things enthroned on her proper pedestal.

SEEING CALIFORNIA

An interesting and instructive film entitled, "Seeing California through the Windshield of an Oldsmobile," will be projected on the screen at the Palace Grand Theatre on Thursday next, the 5th of October, at both shows, namely 7:15 and 8:45 p. m.

The pictures illustrate the wondrous beauties of the Sierras, rendered accessible by means of the automobile and the attractions and facilities of camp life due to the modern equipment within the reach of all.

The type of car displayed on the screen can be seen at the office of the local agents, 122 West Broadway, Glendale.

KALEM FILM COMPANY

Now that the rain is over the Kalem company has been able to get to work again. The production of "A Son of Cain" is being proceeded with. This is a striking and vivid melodrama. It needs about sixty persons for its production. Mr. Davis is staging his ore chute stunt, in which the heroine escapes from the clutches of her enemies by riding down an ore chute in one of the ore cars.

DORAN STREET P.-T. A.

The first regular meeting of the Doran street Parent-Teachers' association will be held at the school, Wednesday, October 4, promptly at 3 o'clock. Mrs. Hutchinson, president of the federation, will speak. Dues of the association are 25 cents, payable the first meeting. All patrons of the school are especially urged to be present. A short business session will be followed by a social hour.

POSSIBILITIES OF MOTION PICTURES

The motion picture machine is now used to show the blossoming of a flower or the development of a butterfly as readily as any other phases of life. Every one knows that such a machine may be run either fast or slow, so that the series of events represented appear to take place faster or slower than they do in nature.

The "speeding up" process may be carried to such an extreme that a series of events which actually extended over days or months may pass before the spectator's eye in a few minutes. Thus the development of a plant or flower may be shown from its earliest beginnings.

Likewise it is possible to exhibit pictures of slow animal growth in the different stages of development

For such work the negatives must be made at regular intervals of time, and the exposure must continue day and night, until the subject portrayed has reached its maturity. Generally less than three weeks is required to take the negative showing the growth of a rose from bud to full-blown flower. In this time something like 2400 films are exposed, which are not so many when it is remembered that most moving pictures of animate objects carry some 10,000 to 20,000 separate and distinct photographs.

FISH FOR THE WORLD

When the United States government purchased Alaska for only $7,000,000 no one thought of its prospective value as a source as food products, but today Alaska is regarded as the coming center of the fish supply of the world.

The sea beats upon 26,000 miles of Alaskan shore line, a distance greater than the circumferance of the earth. All of that vast stretch of water is teeming with the most edible fish on earth. Every bay is a harbor where these fish may be prpepared for the markets of the world and the greatest ships afloat can anchor in safety while taking on their cargoes.

This food wealth is no less important than the mineral wealth of Alaska, as the demand for foodstuffs of all descriptions is advancing. The tapping of new sources of supply is most desirable.

INVITATION TO FLOWER LOVERS

The Los Angeles County Horticultural society invites the general public to their next regular meeting held in the L. A. Chamber of Commerce lecture room, Wednesday evening, October 4, at 8 o'clock p. m.

A talk by H. R. Richards on bulb culture will be given, naming best varieties suited to Southern California and giving full planting instructions. As the time for planting bulbs is close at hand, this paper should be of rare value to all interested in bulbs. Glendale, whose soil is so pecularly adapted to bulb culture, should lead in cultivation of all bulbous blooms, especially narcissi or daffodils, which are the easiest to grow, the cheapest to maintain, and the showiest to display. For this reason, the Glendale Garden society offers a silver cup for the best daffodils (technically speaking narcissi) —also a silver cup for the best Iris, at a floral contest to be held in the month of March. The Garden society desires to encourage the growing of daffodils until Glendale becomes famed for its daffodil gardens. October is the month for planting bulbs. The Garden society will issue instructions for its monster birdhouse contest and its floral contests, of which there may possibly be six during the year; prizes offered, cups and their donors, cultural notes, all will be included in this bulletin which will be issued at cost price.

Mrs. Nanno Woods, J. H. Woods, Mrs. H. C. Ackley, Morris E. Caruthers, Freeman Kelly and other Glendale folks interested in gardening are planning to attend the L. A. Horticultural society meeting on Wednesday. Who else would like to go?

REGISTER BEFORE CLOSE OF OCTOBER 7

Saturday, October 7, 12 o'clock at midnight, closes the registration of voters for the November 7 election. Those who have not registered will do well not to wait until Saturday but register at once. A convenient place to register is with Miss Sarah Pollard, 413 Brand Boulevard at the Glendale Book Store. 31t5

NEW JERSEY PICNIC

On account of the rain last Saturday the New Jersey folks have postponed their picnic to Saturday, October 7. It will be held in Sycamore Grove, Los Angeles, all day, basket dinners at noon. Coffee will be provided but bring cup and spoon. Each one should bring ample picnic dinner. The county registers will be open all day so that all may find friends. There will be no formal program, just some speeches by New Jersey orators. All former residents of the state are urged to attend.

Born, to Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Easton, 303 South Howard street, on Friday, September 29, an eight-pound daughter.

David J. Graham, 235 East Third street, is spending a few days in San Luis Obispo, where he has certain business interests.

Eugene Imler, who is attending Throop college, was a week end visitor at his home in Tropico, 310 West Park Avenue.

William C. Renshaw, who is a student at Throop college of Technology Pasadena, spent the week end at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Renshaw, 1462 Lomita avenue.

O. A. Lane, ex-mayor of Glendale, has been quite ill at his residence, 1017 Chestnut street. Mr. Lane, who is still confined to his room underwent a minor operation last Friday.

Miss Elsie Simpson of Goldfield, Nevada, is a visitor at the home of her aunt, Mrs. Luther G. Brown, 128 North Louise. Miss Simpson will stay in Glendale all winter and will attend the University of Southern California.

Dr. and Mrs. Joseph Whytock of North Jackson street announce the engagement of their daughter, Janet E. Whysock to J. Stanton Kingsley of Northport, Long Island, New York. The marriage will take place in October.

The chairman of the various committees of the Doran Street Parent-Teachers' association spent a very enjoyable luncheon hour at the home of the new president, Mrs. M. E. Plasterer, 109 N. Kenwood street, on Monday, and discussed plans for the coming year.

The Rev. C. R. Norton, the Rev. Dr. Henry, the Rev. Dr. Julius Soper, the Rev. W. S. Blackburn and the Rev. Edward Hoskyn are members of the Retired Clergymen's association, which is meeting this week in Los Angeles in the First Methodist Episcopal church.

Hubert, the little son of Dr. and Mrs. H. V. Everly of Oak street, has been seriously ill all last week. It is believed that the child got hold of some decayed grapes. He is suffering from a kind of ptomaine poisoning. His illn ss was considered so serious that Dr. Everly's mother, Mrs. M. M. Everly of San Diego came up to Glendale to assist in caring for the child, who is now a little better.

Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Carmack, 715 North Central avenue, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Garrison at their home in Alhambra. The two families were old friends in Indiana. Robert Carmack, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Carmack, who was injured in a street car accident some time ago is now so far recovered that he has been able several times to walk home with the aid of crutches from the High school. Robert was recently elected president of his class in the High school.

ARRAY OF LEGAL TALENT

In a suit brought by Mrs. Berta Neighbors against T. Satio for the purpose of regaining possession of a Maxwell auto of the racing type, quite an array of legal talent appeared in Judge Miller's court Saturday and Monday. James F. McBryde appeared for the plaintiff, Mrs. Neighbors; Albert Pearce for the defendant, Satio; Oliver Clark and Claude Andrews for R. A. Siples, who purchased the auto from W. E. Stone. Mrs. Neighbors' chicken ranch manager and sold it to Satio; W. E. Sprowls represented W. E. Stone. Judge Miller after an exhaustive hearing took the case under advisement.

FRIDAY MORNING CLUB

Glendale ladies who are members of the Friday Morning club of Los Angeles are planning to attend the opening meeting of the new session, Friday, October 6. Mrs. Luther G. Brown, 128 North Louise, is the recording secretary and other Glendale members are Mrs. John R. White, Mrs. John Braly, Miss Rosemary Button, Mrs. Daniel Campbell, Mrs. H. E. Bartlett, Mrs. C. O. Pulliam, Mrs. Charles Shattuck, Mrs. R. W. Meeker, Mrs. Charles Melford, Mrs. Mattison B. Jones. Among the features of the program will be the music of Mme. David, the world-known harpist.

CHINA'S RAILWAYS

A noted authority predicts that there will be more railways built in China during the coming 25 years than in all the rest of the world combined. Forty years ago, the first locomotive was imported into the land, now there are over 6000 miles of railway, with a net revenue of more than $8,000,000 a year.

Soon after the first seven-mile line was opened the engine ran over a man and killed him, and the natives promptly tore up the rails and destroyed them.

Mrs. Webster, the dressmaker at 210 E. Broadway, is pleased to announce to the public that after her long illness she is again able to attend to business and will be pleased to see her old customers, also new ones. Phone 99-W. 32t2*

GLENDALE RED CROSS BRANCH

The Glendale branch of the British Red Cross society met in the Guild room of St. Mark's Episcopal church Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock. There was a good attendance. Mrs. Reginald Whitaker and Miss Ina Whitaker were the hostesses for the afternoon and had provided a delicious afternoon tea. Plans were laid for holding a regular entertainment and meeting Monday, October 9, from 3 to 5 p. m. in the Guild room. This will be a Soldiers' Christmas stocking tea. Ladies are expected to bring the well filled stockings with them or the money equivalent.

Every British resident in Glendale is asked to help. It is necessary to get money also for material for the making of the numerous articles of hospital use that are so badly needed in the hospitals, both in the field and at the various bases. Bandages and hospital shirts are badly needed. The work at the Monday meeting will be chiefly on this species of supply.

The specifications as to the articles that are to be placed in the Christmas socks will be published in The Glendale News later. It is highly desirable that all the socks should be alike in their contents. Those desiring information or having suggestions are requested to call Miss Whitaker, 208 West Ninth street, Glendale, 586-J, or Mrs. Nanno Woods, Glendale 1357. Mrs. Nanno Woods' office, 1111 West Broadway will be a collecting station where Christmas socks may be left.

DAUGHTERS OF 1812

A large American flag floating in the breeze at 101 South Brand Boulevard marked the meeting place of the United States Daughters of 1812, State of California, who held their initial meeting of the year last Friday with Mrs. H. E. Bartlett who is the state register. A short board meeting was held previous to the general meeting which was opened by singing "The Star Spangled Banner." The state president, Mrs. H. T. Wright of Hollywood, presided. Reports of committees were heard and suggestions for the work of the coming year were discussed. At the close of an interesting afternoon refreshments were served by the hostess.

The society was delighted to greet Mrs. Emma Van der Grift of Los Angeles, a "real daughter" past ninety years of age, a very bright and interesting member who never fails to attend.

Special guests of the day were Mrs. Willis M. Kimball, Mrs. J. M. Border, Mrs. Wash Hunt and Miss Ella S. Frantz of Los Angeles.

THE BIRD LADY

Mrs. Harriet William Myers, the beloved bird lady, of Los Angeles, will give a delightful talk on "Birds of My Garden," illustrated with charming stereopticon views, on Thursday evening, October 5, at the High school auditorium, at 8 o'clock sharp. This lecture will be free to the public. Everybody most cordially invited.

Members of the Bird and Flower club will be presented with the prizes won by them during the summer months. These prizes are given personally by the leader of the Bird and Flower club, whose interest in children is intense. Printed programs of the work of the Glendale Garden society containing details of the meetings dated to December, and statement of silver cups to be offered at floral contests in March and April, have been mailed to all members. Any member not receiving one will please communicate with headquarters, 1111 Broadway. If Mrs. G. I. Jones and Mrs. J. B. Nichols will please send their addresses to headquarters the courtesy will be much appreciated.

HAVE ENJOYABLE SOCIAL TIME

The young people of the Baptist Young People's Union spent a very enjoyable social evening Saturday, September 30, when they met in the basement of the First Baptist church corner Louise and Third. The evening's entertainment took the form of a "track meet." Some of the events were as follows:

Twenty-yard dash—Contestants to hop distance on one foot without spilling a glass of water carried in right hand.

Hammer throw (girls only)—Had one minute to inflate paper bag with "hot" air. They then threw as far as possible.

One-yard dash (boys only)—Pushed penny distance of one yard with nose.

These and many other similar events furnished much amusement for all. Refreshments were served afterward and everyone was unanimous in their opinion of having had a thoroughly enjoyable time.

LIGHTS FOR RAZORS

An Englishman has invented a miniature electric lamp provided with an adjustable clip and flexible cord which may be attached to a razor so that it lights the path of the blade while a man is engaged in shaving, where otherwise the light would be too dim.

It is said an operate most successfully when used in connection with a safety razor.

PROHIBITION

(By Samuel Parker)

All civilized people that live where law dominates are governed by prohibition laws, from the fact that all laws are either prohibitory or permissive. "You may," or "you may not" are factors in all law ever enacted at any time, by any body. It marks all the laws ever issued from Sinai to Sacramento, and all lawyers from Moses to Chief Justice Brandies.

The Sinai statutes rang clear on prohibitory laws and Moses backed them up, by lectures frequently delivered to the people until they were well understood. In these statutes every human interest, moral, social, property, are so well safe guarded that all lawmakers the world over, have been successful in proportion as they closely followed the original copy.

Prohibitory laws, thus being cannonized in the hearts of the people, we seem to have gotten along very well until prohibition is sought to be applied to the sale of liquors, when the whole booze brigade rend the air with shouts declaring, "you can't say by law what we shall eat, drink and wear."

Steady there. Back up. If you took breakfast at club, hotel or cafeteria, about everything you order to eat or drink had been inspected by law Your steak was good because the law prohibited the sale of diseased meat. Your coffee was good because some rascally dealer was prohibited from adulterating it with chickory, or castor beans. Your cream was good because the cows, and methods of milking and handling had been rigidly inspected else it might have came to you from cows fed on distillery slops, in muddy pens, milked by unwashed hands from unwashed udders, and strained through a gunny sack used for a door mat.

How thankful we should be for inspection and prohibition. May the powers that be in city, state and government give us more of it, especially in the matter of what we shall eat and what we shall drink.

A lady, an actress, in Venice, is quoted in the "wet" column of the Tribune-Express as opposed to the "dry" doctrine, and makes a nice little speech against sumptuary laws that seek to say what people shall eat and drink and wear. Her dinners already handed to her by law, her drinks ditto if she drinks milk or coffee, and as to dress, she has been under prohibitory law all her adult life. The law has been quite liberal as to what she should put on, and possibly too liberal as to what she leaves off, but let her dress up in male attire and take to the street, and it is safe to say she would not proceed for half a block before even a Los Angeles policeman would run her in.

The impersonal "Liberty League" is squandering postage and spreading much printer's ink in effort to convince voters that to vote "dry" would be disastrous to all business interests of the state and city, attaching prosperity of every kind to the chariot wheels of saloons and booze. Presumably members of this organization are engaged in the real estate business, and it would be safe to wager any sum that not one of them has a lot, bungalow or ranch with a saloon near by as a feature valuable to the locality. On the contrary all sales have been made in all surrounding suburbs because of the absence of these blighting influences, and schools and churches are put forth as valuable factors in the sale transaction.

If lying was prohibited and the penalty for violation death and promptly executed, there would be vacancies in sundry editorial chairs, and "no more copy" from cheap penny-a-liners, who have beaten "Ananias" to a standstill in their false statements in regard to the disastrous effects of "dry" conditions in states where dry has been adopted.

Kansas, notably, has been the target for most of this slander, but Kansas keeps right on. Half her county jails have not had an inmate for a year, some of them have been used for corn cribs. Her people are the richest per capita of any state in the union, her illiteracy is only two per cent. and county and state indebtedness is nominal, while every fourth family in the state owns an automobile. Ten thousand former Kansans now in California, know how Kansas prospers under dry, and will help vote it on California.

COLORADO BOULEVARD P.-T. A.

The first meeting of the Parent-Teacher association of the Colorado Boulevard school will be held Thursday, October 5. There will be an unusually fine program. Miss Gertrude Champlain will give piano selections, Miss Sussine Wessels will entertain with violin solos and Mrs. J. A. St. Clair will give a reading. All members and those desiring to become members are urgently requested to be present.

Grazing experts of the Forest Service estimate that the cost of producing lambs in the northwestern states is $1.82 per head.

NORWAY WANTS HER OWN

A "Home to Norway" movement is sweeping over Norway. The great emigration to the United States, which during the last fifty years has drained the country of young laborers and girls from the farms, has never made itself felt so much as in the last two years while Norway has been endeavoring to become more and more self-supporting and independent of foreign imports.

Every effort is being made to induce Norwegians in America to return to their native land and encourage young Norwegians to remain at home. The government is adopting every possible means to improve farming conditions and present new inducements for tilling the soil.

The most recent census shows that of the population of 2,500,000 over 20,000 are returned Norwegian-Americans, 1700 of whom were born in the United States. The majority of them have taken up farming, using to good advantage the capital they saved up in America.

A new law is now under consideration which will provide for closer control of emigrant agents and steam ship lines, and make it easier for native sons to return to Norway by giving them freedom from military service, provided they have been away a certain number of years.

AN INTERESTING CITY

Mexico City, the capital of Mexico, is a town of historic importance. Its cathedral is regarded by many as the handsomest building of its kind on the American continent. The foundation stone of the edifice was laid in 1593 on the site of a former heathen temple.

The national museum is filled with treasures dating back to the Aztec civilization, and various memorials of the unfortunate Maximilian and the beautiful Carlotta lend a luster to this attractive and romantic city.

The climate is quite pleasant; the population is about 471,000 many of whom are Americans and Germans.

DISCOVERY OF THE GRAND CANYON

The first white men to see the Grand Canyon of the Colorado were Cardenas and his 12 companions, who were guided there by Hopi Indians from Tusayan. Cardenas was sent by Coronado to find the wonderful river of which De Tovar had heard from the Indians. He remained four days on the rim at some few indeed of the craft that have for a way to descend. It is always interesting to recall the heroic trip made by Maj. J. W. Powell down the Grand Canyon in small boats when practically nothing was known of its course or character. His journey began at Green River, Wyo., May 24, 1869, and was notably successful.—U. S. Geological Survey.

WILL BUY BIRDHOUSES

Morris E. Caruthers has received an inquiry from a gentleman in Los Angeles who wants to know when the Birdhouse exhibition will be held, because he wishes to come out to Glendale at that time and purchase some birdhouses for his own home grounds. This is the second promise received to buy a number of birdhouses. It would be well for those entering the contest to make several birdhouses; for even if they do not win a prize they run a good chance of being able to sell at a good profit. This affords a nice way of making pocket money just when it is always needed before Christmas.

CREED

To live as gently as I can.
To be, no matter where, a man;
To take what comes of good or ill
And cling to faith and honor still;
To do my best, and let that stand
The record of my brain and hand,
And then, shall failure come to me
To work and hope for victory.

To have no secret place wherein
I stoop unseen to shame or sin;
To be the same when I'm alone
As when my every deed is known;
To live undaunted, unafraid
To be without pretense or sham,
Exact'y what men think I am.

To leave some simple mark behind
That I have 'ived for men to find;
If enmity to aught I show
To be an honest, generous foe;
To play my little part, not whine
That greater honors are not mine.
This, I believe, is all I need
For my philosophy and creed.

—Edgar A. Guest.

HAVE YOU EVER NOTICED?

That the fellow who hogs the road on you, regardless, when you are behind him, is the one who does the indignant sneering when you don't move over instanter for him?

That the crowd who gives you the merry ascent and descent when they pass while you are changing a tire in the hot sun, don't seem so hilarious when you run by a little tube patching job, they are doing a few miles further on?

—:—

That the fellow who is most free with his advice usually knows least about the subject? The wise boy doesn't butt in unless you ask him.

—:—

That those whose feelings are easiest hurt are the ones who are least regardful of the other fellow's sensibilities?

THE GREATEST PROSPERITY

The most remarkable thing in the commercial history of the United States is this: Exports from this country for the fiscal year ended on June 30, 1916, $4,334,000,000. This is almost double the high record of the previous year. Merchandise imports for the same year, $2,198,000,000, or 16 per cent. higher than the highest previous record. Favorable trade balance for the year ended June 30, 1916, $2,136,000,000. This is just double that of the previous year and almost three and one-half times the highest record before the war.

These cold but remarkable figures prove that this country today is enjoying the greatest commercial prosperity in its history.

A STOPOVER

Pat Murphy, a contractor, became rich and prosperous, and sought an expensive automobi'e. So Mrs. Murphy invited Mrs. O'Hara for a ride in it.

"Whatever you do, Mrs. O'Hara, don't talk to the shoffer; not a single whisper to him, for it'll take his mind off what he's doin'."

They started out at a rapid slip. The chauffeur zipped around one corner and then around another; at times the car would be on two wheels. Finally Mrs. O'Hara touched the chauffeur on the back and said apologeticaclly:

"Mr. Shoffer, I beg your pardon. I was told not to speak to you, but Mrs. Murphy ain't been in the car for the last ten minutes."

Happiness is a by-product of industry.

BREADFRUIT IN PREHISTORIC FLORIDA

A change of climate is supposed to account for the shrinkage of Alaska glaciers, for the disappearance of those clever stone masons whose handiwork is found in the midst of Mexican jungles, and for many other things. Great changes of climate undoubtedly have taken place in different parts of the world. Impressions of fossil plants are found in the Arctic regions and fossils found in the rocks elsewhere prove that temperature and moisture in some regions have been very different in other times. The present vevgetation in Northwestern Florida represents a temperature flora that has received additions from the tropics. A few years ago a man digging in a clay bank on Apalachicola river, west of Tallahassee, found fossil plants, which prove that in Tertiary geologic time, some millions of years ago, the flora was distinctly tropical and was gradually becoming invaded by members of a temperate flora as a result of a change of climate. He found fossil remains of such trees as the breadfruit, camphor and satinwood, and with them remains of the elm and buckthorn. By far the most abundant fossil was the palm, whole layers of which were found fossilized in sand. This discovery suggests that in Tertiary time, near the coast and along sluggish rivers, only a few feet above the sea level, there were in tbat region extensive palmetto swamps or brakes.

The subtropical or warm temperate climate in which these palms and breadfruit lived in Western Florida was cooler than that of the preceding period, when, in the area that now is land, a shallow tropical sea swarmed with shellfish.

PROMOTERS MUST "DELIVER THE GOODS"

The state corporation department, administering the blue sky law is being kept busy devising ways and means of checking the schemes of wily promoters. One of the worst evils of the old order was the practice of the promoter who took from 50 to 60 per cent of his company's stock as promotion, and instead of selling the treasury stock of the corporation so that it would have capital with which to operate, sold his own and pocketed the proceeds. The purchaser was in most cases swindled and the company seldom succeeded.

Commissioner of Corporations Carnahan now requires all stock issued in exchange for services or other intangible values to be deposited to escrow so that it cannot be unloaded on innocent purchasers, and to remain there until the company has made some progress. If the company wins, the promoter profits, but we must first make good for the cash investors. The importance of this phase of regulation of the issue of corporate securities is indicated by the fact that since the blue sky law went into effect 20 months ago, stock of the par value of more than $44,000,000 has been ordered into escrow by the commissioner.

GROWTH OF THE Y. M. C. A.

From figures taken from the annual report of the Y. M. C. A. of North America it is evident that this organization is continuing its steady growth. In the last year twenty-three buildings valued at $6,000,000 have been opened. This brings the total to 782 buildings, valued at $83,300,000.

The investment in equipment amounts to about $20,000,000, making a total property value of nearly $100,000,000.

In North America there are about 700,000 members, and it is estimated that as many more young men visit the Y. M. C. A. buildings. There are 125,000 young men housed, nearly 100,000 enrolled in evening vocational classes, and about 350,000 in gymnasium classes.

CAUSE OF THE COLLAPSE

The foreman employed by a big contractor rushed into the office of the boss, wild eyed and palpitating.

"Boss," said he, in a greatly agitated voice, "one of them new houses fell down in the night."

"What's that?" exclaimed the bass jumping up and beginning to take notice. "What was the matter? How did it happen?"

"It was the fault of the workmen, boss," answered the foreman. "They made the mistake of taking down the scaffolding before they put on the wall paper."

WAGES IN JAPAN

In the United States it is almost impossible to realize how people can live on wages as low as those paid in Japan. In the better sort of cotton mills wages run from 5 cents a day to 20 cents a day for good women workers.

The policy of Japan is to import raw materials in greatly increasing quantities and to build up new manufacturing industries, and to do this the people must be content with extremely low wages.

"We want someone to play Samson," explained the movie manager. "Do you think you could wreck the temple?"

"Can I? Well, I've been a freight-handler for eleven years."

GLENDALE FOOTHILLS

North Central avenue and Stocker street has sold her business to Mrs. Mabel Cadd, who has taken possession. A line of school supplies has been added to the stock to accommodate the numerous school children of the neighborhood.

Ed Goetz, for a number of years associated with the Espesero de Verdugo, left a short time ago to visit relatives in Colorado. It is expected that the attractions of stock ranching in that state, in partnership with his brother, may keep him there permanently.

B. C. Hinman of Lorraine street has returned home after a season's engagement with the Virginia hotel at Long Beach as assistant steward.

Roger P. Jones of Viola avenue, one of the employes of the Title Guaranty and Trust company of Los Angeles, which concern has furnished many long time residents of the foothills, including its president, L.C. Brand, has been placed in charge, temporarily, of the Pasadena branch office of that company.

Mr. and Mrs. Shepherd have leased the house at 1226 Viola avenue. Mrs. Shepherd has a teacher's position in the Glendale Union High school.

Although the Glendale foothills seemed to be in the center of the course of the four-inch downpour of the season's record breaking opening storm, the deluge passed with no noticeable damage, but leaving in its wake deeply soaked soil, thoroughly cleansed greenery and the smiling aspect of nature presenting a bit of California in all its pristine beauty.

AMERICANIZING THE EUCALYPTUS

Baby specimens of the 400 foot eucalyptus tree of Australia and Tasmania, many of whose ancestors reached that maximum height, with a girth of eighty feet, have been raised from seed in Pennsylvania. It is said that eucalyptus trees have large qualities that cure malaria.

In Langhorne county, Pennsylvania, under adverse conditions seeds received by Professor H. G. Walters from the Governor General of Australia, and also some minute seeds from Tasmania, have developed into trees thirty-five inches tall. They give out a strong odor somewhat similar to that of peppermint.

For the first time in the history of Pennsylvania the Plant Research Institute has been able to raise from seed the "glory pea" from New Zealand. The vine grew five feet tall, flowered and went to seed. An attempt will be made to grow these delicious peas in Pennsylvania soil on a large scale.

CANAL CUTS DISTANCE

A new steamship service was inaugurated recently through the Panama canal from Wellington, New Zealand, to London, when the steamer Remuera of the New Zealand Shipping company made a voyage by way of the canal. Formerly the vessels of this company sailed around the Cape of Good Hope in the voyage from England, and around Cape Horn on the homeward lap, going completely around the world on each trip.

SAFE RAILROADING

The passing of the first half of 1916 completed two and a half consecutive years in which no passenger was killed on any part of the Pennsylvania railroad in a train accident.

In that time 453,952,298 passengers were carried safely in more than 3,000,000 trains, for a total distance of over ten billions of miles, or about 400,000 times around the world.

Including the freights, upwards of 7,500,000 trains were operated, day and night, over 26,000 miles, while the passengers were being carried in safety.

THROUGH CAPE COD CANAL

The highly important Cape Cod canal was used for the first time for steamship passenger service a short time ago.

This waterway is a link in the proposed inland water route from Boston to Florida, and makes unnecessary the perilous rounding of Cape Cod. While made possible by private enterprise, the canal may readily become a vital factor in national defense, should that become necessary.

The reflector, 100 inches in diameter, for Mt. Wilson observatory in California, which will be finished early next year, will be the largest mirror ever cast. It will be thirteen inches thick and will contain in one solid piece four and one-half tons of glass.

There is no real elevation of mind in a contempt of little things. It is, on the contrary, from too narrow views that we consider those things of little importance, which have, in fact, such extensive consequences. —Fenelon.

Scientists have discovered an immense amount of underground water in Egypt, and plans are under way for boring an extensive system of wells for use in the dry seasons.

Misrepresentation

The advertising of cut rate undertakers, and those "independent of the trust" (whatever that means) is misleading to the public. They furnish nothing more than does this firm at the same price.
